Ⅰ. Introduction of GSIS

GSIS educates global leaders for the increasingly complex global society. As both a professional and an academic institution, it seeks to prepare its students to assume leading roles in government and non-governmental organizations, international organizations, multinational corporations, the media, as well as think-tanks and universities. The curriculum is based on an integrated, multidisciplinary approach, connecting theory with practice. With the most prominent faculty members in Korea, specializing in international commerce, international cooperation, international area studies, and Korean studies, GSIS SNU provides an exceptional research and educational environment.

D. Institute of International Affairs (http://iia.snu.ac.kr)

As Korea's primary research center for International Studies, Institute of International Affairs (IIA) takes a role of conducting research and expanding materials related to International Commerce, International Cooperation, International Area Studies, and Korean Studies. Most of the Institute's activities support academic exchanges with other researchers, governments, and corporate institutions worldwide and publish annual reports, journals, and working papers for international research. Under the patronage of SK Corporation from 2019, IIA was reformed, recruiting more researchers, providing independent space for IIA under Graduate School of International Studies (GSIS), and reorganizing the centers under IIA into 10 research centers in order to help raise expertise concerning the issues on international and area studies. Starting with 'the Opening Ceremony of the Institute of International Affairs, Seoul National University' and 'Vision Proclamation Ceremony & Celebration Symposium' which are held on early 2020, IIA will take a leap to one of the global outstanding institutes for international and area studies. IIA is expected to promote academic exchanges among the GSIS faculty and researchers specialized in international studies both at home and abroad, do publication including the regular Issue Brief and Global Strategy Report regarding the issues on international and area studies in both Korean and English, and hold a distinguished regular seminar and academic conference locally and abroad. In addition, IIA plans to train the next generation and do IIA Bookclub to contribute to the Society.

1) Center for EU Studies

The Center for EU Studies is the first specialty research center established with the support of the European Commission under the Institute of International Affairs. It takes a role of showing what EU does and What activities EU do via educational program and research. In addition, the Center for EU Studies was awarded by the European Commission as a ‘Center of Excellence’ in South Korea since 2011. Carrying on South Korea-EU Education Cooperative Project for the first time to make an intimate relationship between South Korea and EU, CEU is now truly the most leading EU research institute in South Korea.

2) Center for International Development Studies

The Center for International Development Cooperation promotes international development by engaging in diverse research activities and global interaction and cooperation with various levels of actors of international development from advanced and developing countries. The research focuses on development issues covering all regions and time. Based on such a broad set of research activities, it provides insights and outlook for development for all actors of international development who want to plan and implement strategies for development. The CIDC plants the seeds for a better world.

3) Center for International Security

The center for International Security focuses on presenting objective assessment and practical perspective on security issues complicatedly mingled in the changing world order. Newly established in 2019 under Institute of International Affairs, CIS conducts research to improve strategic thinking and understanding in academic and policy-level viewpoint as the security uncertainty get raised in this US-China Strategic Competition.

4) Center for Transnational Migration and Open Society

The Center for Transnational Migration and Open Society focuses on academic research and cooperation among academia, civic organizations, and the government to make a nondiscriminatory society based on gender, ethnicity, age, and disability, improve the right of the disadvantaged and contribute to the development of the open society.

5) Center for International Commerce & Strategy

Since the establishment in 2013, the Center for International Commerce & Strategy have managed all processes of holding seminars, academic conference and education program related to international commerce on campus, under the lead of the director and the chief professor.

6) Center for International Cooperation

The International Cooperation Research Center is a research center that analyzes issues on international security, international law, international organizations, international development, international political economy and global governance in a rapidly changing global environment. The center covers all aspects of Northeast Asia security issues, global climate change, developing countries' development problems, international legal solutions to international disputes, and conducts research on political response strategies to international issues.

7) Center for East Asian Studies

The Center for East Asian Studies embraces major issues on security orders, political systems, economic systems, and civil society to enhance interdisciplinary and comprehensive understanding on East Asia. Beyond the perspective based on the Korean Peninsula and East Asia where the Cold-war security order continues, CEAS focuses on various non-security-related conflict and dispute factors which currently exist and lie dormant in East Asian area, and makes effort to research and make policy for co-management, which can achieve peace and prosperity through intensified economic interdependence, exchange and cooperation.

8) Center for American Studies

The Center mainly conducts studies on economic and political issues in North and South America. The research carried out so far has mainly been focused on free trade agreements between Korea and Latin American countries, other economic cooperation measures, and South Korea's development cooperation policy toward Latin American countries.

9) Center for Chinese Studies

The Center for Chinese Studies analyzes major issues deeply and suggests rational policy alternative for an in-depth international and areal understanding on China. It captures accurately how modern China changes with both internal and external perspective, and makes an effort to build a platform for systematical and sustainable research on China.

10) Center for Korean Studies

The Center for Korean Studies was established for the purpose of enhancing the capacity of Korean Studies research and expanding the network of scholars in the discipline. The Socheon Center opened in June 2013 with the generous support from Madam Socheon Young hi Park, who has worked for the development of Korean Studies throughout her lifetime. In addition to fostering academic research and hosting colloquiums, the Center held the 12th World Korean Studies Consortium Workshop in June 2016 to promote interaction among the Korean Studies scholars from leading universities worldwide. The Socheon Center also organizes diverse cultural experience events to give opportunities for foreign students to experience and learn about Korean traditions.

E. Institute for Japanese Studies (http://ijs.snu.ac.kr)

Institute for Japanese Studies is an interdisciplinary, in-depth research institute for modern Japan. Through the network of Japanese researchers both on and off-campus with six full-time faculty members. IJS focuses on joint research, Japanese data collection, various academic projects such as international conferences, construction of information network, as well as research, academic, and social contribution projects to nurture next-generation Japan experts.

In research activities, IJS focuses on research that can link the elements of past and present while highlighting the present rather than the past, interdisciplinary research that combines humanities and social sciences, and empirical research that emphasizes the field. The scope of the institute is not limited to these research and academic activities. It not only concentrates in fostering the next generation of Japan experts, but also in social contribution activities as the institute is aware of practical implications of its activities.

IJS is now taking a new leap forward with Humanities Korea+ (HK+) projects under the agenda of "Japanese Life-World in the Era of Post-Area Studies: Maturity and Change, Crisis and Solidarity" for seven years since 2019. The institute will create new knowledge and discourse in the field of Japanese research based on existing research results and contribute to peace and common prosperity in East Asia by establishing desirable relations between Korea and Japan. IJS will also continue to strive for the development of new areas and research models in Japanese studies.

D. Master's Degree/ Doctor's Degree

[Master's Program]
Students are granted a Master of International Studies, with a major field of study specified.

[Ph.D. Program]
Students are granted a Doctor of Philosophy in International Studies.

Ⅳ. Scholarships

A. Scholarships Available for GSIS Students

1) SNU Scholarship: Partial exemption of tuition
2) Working Scholarship: Hourly wages for work as assistants
3) SNU Foundation Scholarship: Sponsored by SNU Foundation (each with different eligibility conditions)
4) Scholarship for Teaching Assistant (TA): Exemption of full tuition and a monthly allowance
5) Socheon Scholarship, GLP Scholarship: Sponsored by the Socheon Foundation and Global Leadership Program
6) Global Scholarship: Full tuition fee for international students. Has different application procedure from SNU scholarship.

B. Scholarship Application

For scholarship application, students should check scholarship notices from Official Notice Board of the GSIS website and submit required documents to the GSIS administration office. (Scholarships can be awarded to those who applied for it.) Scholarships are awarded based on a student's GPA, financial situation and other criteria. A student is eligible to apply for a scholarship if he or she has taken 9 credits or more (excluding Dissertation Research) and has received a GPA of 3.3 or higher (3.0 or higher for international students).

Ⅴ. Registration Information

A. Course Registration

Registration notifications are posted on the GSIS homepage. Students are expected to register for courses through the on-line course registration process (http://sugang.snu.ac.kr).

1) Students wishing to enroll for courses should be fully aware of Seoul National University's rules for registration. To view the full text of these rules, visit SNU's homepage (www.snu.ac.kr).

2) Before enrolling, students should first read a notice from the Administration Office. Students must enroll for courses within the set due date and receive confirmation from an academic advisor. Student can get administrative assist at the Office in enrolling.

3) When re-taking a course or registering for a double-titled course (a course number with a * mark preceding it, such as *8752.616), please pay attention to whether it is a different course or a replaceable course (if it is a replaceable course, it is considered the same course as the one it is meant to replace).

4) Any problems that result from a mistake made during course registration will entirely be the responsibility of the student. Therefore, students should carefully review registration guidelines and receive instructions from an advisor, if necessary.

5) If a student wishes to take undergraduate courses, he or she may take up to 6 credits with the approval of the head professor in his or her major program. However, please note that no undergraduate general courses are eligible for credit transfers. (Only major courses are eligible for credit transfer.)

B. Leave of Absence

A leave of absence is classified as either a general leave (leave taken by not registering during the registration period), or a semester leave (leave taken before the end of the 2/4 of the semester). In case of a semester leave, students can transfer tuition fees to next semester only when they apply for the leave before the end of the 2/4 of the semester. However, in case of illness or military service, students can apply for leave even after 2/4 of the semester, and can transfer tuition fees to a future semester. A general leave of absence automatically expires after 2 semesters (except in case of Military Service Leave of Absence and other cases specified). The minimum length of a leave of absence is limited to one semester. The aggregated term of absence cannot exceed four semesters for graduate students in a master's program, and six semesters for students in doctoral program. Student can apply through mySNU site (http://my.snu.ac.kr).

C. Re-enrollment

Students who wish to re-enroll can apply through mySNU site (http://my.snu.ac.kr) during the registration period. In case of returning after completing military service, students must submit a resident registration certificate (stating their military status) or a certificate of military service discharge.

D. Student Identification Card (S-card)

Check the official notice of student identification card posted on the GSIS homepage (http://gsis.snu.ac.kr) each semester.
S-card may take the form of a smart card with an integrated function containing ID and banking services.

Ⅵ. GSIS Exchange Program

A. Studying Abroad

1) Prerequisites for Studying Abroad

a) Students must submit an application form after getting approval of academic advisor and chair (academic associate dean) to the GSIS Administration Office.
b) Students must apply three months prior to the beginning of the regular semester and two months prior to the beginning of winter and summer sessions.
c) Students may study abroad for up to one year and earn a maximum of 12 transfer credits per regular term and 9 transfer credits per winter/summer term.

2) Changing or cancelling application

Students must submit the necessary forms to the GSIS Administration Office.

3) Transfer Credits

a) After completing the study abroad program, students must submit a transcript from the university at which they studied abroad and a GSIS application form for transferring credits to be approved by the GSIS administration office. With approval by an academic advisor and a chair (academic associate dean) and a member of the academic committee, the final credits will be confirmed.

b) Although grades from studying abroad will be shown in the transcript, they will not be included in the student's overall GPA. However, in case of dual degree programs, grades acquired at the foreign university will be included in the student's overall GPA.
c) One credit requires 15 or more hours per semester.
d) Language course credits cannot be transferred.

B. Exchange Program

1) Qualifications

a) Student must have enrolled in GSIS for at least 1 semester and completed at least 2 semesters before going abroad with the exchange student program

c) Resume: 1 page (GSIS form)
d) A copy of GSIS transcripts
e) A copy of TOEFL score report
f) A letter of recommendation written by his/her academic advisor (GSIS form)
g) Written oath

3) Application Due Date

a) The application for exchange program is due in mid-February for every fall semester, and mid-August for the spring semester. All documents should be submitted to the Office of International Cooperation. (Bldg.140-1, Room 301).
b) Students will be notified at the end of March for the fall semester, and at the end of September for the spring semester

4) Credit Transfers

a) Students may obtain a minimum of 9 credits per semester.
b) For summer sessions, students may obtain a minimum of 6 credits.
* In principle, one credit accounts for 15 class hours.

5) Tuition Fees

a) Students are required to pay regular tuition fees to SNU.
b) If the host university is on a trimester system, GSIS tuition for one semester covers tuition costs for two trimesters at the host university.

6) Others

The Exchange Program intends to provide opportunities for students without much international experience studying abroad. Hence, students with little or no international experience will be given priority.

Ⅶ. Campus Life

A. GSIS Student Council

The Student Council is the voice of the student body. With elected representatives from all majors, it works closely with the administration and faculty at GSIS for the benefit of the students it represents. The Student Council is responsible for addressing the concerns of the students and making their time at GSIS more enjoyable through organizing activities and events.

The Student Council will provide important information to the students through information sessions and thesis workshops. It will also administer surveys on various issues in order to collect the opinions of the student body. Various activities and events -- Membership Training, Wine and Cheese Night, Thesis Workshops, and many more -- are arranged for all students at GSIS to enjoy.
