 FAO

“Ms. Vittoria Vecchione, a national of Italy, holds a Bachelor’ s and Master’ s degree in Law with the University of Roma Tre, Rome, Italy. She started her career at the European Organisation for the Safety of Air Navigation in Belgium where she was responsible of the internship and graduate programmes. Hence the interest and passion about the sector of Human Resources which led her to pursue a Master’ s degree in Human Resources Management with the Luiss University in Rome, Italy.

Subsequently she joined the private sector as HR Specialist where she was in charge of the entire recruitment process for interns, junior and senior profiles and where she participated in career fairs and organized recruitment days in academic institutions and in the premises of her employer.

Ms. Vecchione currently acts as Human Resources Officer at the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations in Rome, where is in charge of HR policy development and application. Ms. Vecchione is responsible of developing recruitment strategies for reaching and maintaining gender and geographic balance within the Organization.”

 GCF

“Jaclaine joined the Green Climate Fund in 2016 as a Recruitment Specialist and has been instrumental in growing the Fund from a staff size of 50 to more than 230 today.

Prior to the GCF, she has worked as a Senior Manager for Global Recruitment Services in Devex. Fueled by a passion for international development, Jaclaine’ s recruitment experience span from filling positions for headquarters staff in Washington DC to chief of parties for donor-funded projects in remote African towns, creating talent pools for specific technical expertise for UN agencies, and running gender recruitment projects and regional outreach projects for multilateral regional banks.

Jaclaine holds Master’ s degrees from Ateneo de Manila University in the Philippines and Syracuse University in New York, USA. She also holds a certification in Strategic Human Resources Leadership from Cornell University.”

UNESCAP

“Helen has over 24 years of experience at the United Nations Secretariat in human resources management, including recruitment, learning and development and staff administration. She has worked in various UN departments at New York Headquarters, Geneva, and Bangkok, and has led HR projects at the global level. At the present time, she is leading organizational change and development for her office in Bangkok, while coordinating several HR projects related to the UN system-wide gender strategy and business transformation. She has extensive experience in the UN recruitment process, which she will gladly share with you today.”

ICC

“Mr. Etienne Gouws is the Head of the HR Operations Unit of the International Criminal Court. The HR Operations Unit is responsible for providing support to hiring managers for all recruitment processes and the managing of employment contracts.”

IOM

“Fatima Peregrino-Brimah is a Ghanaian by nationality who grew up in Accra Ghana most part of her life. She graduated at the University of Ghana with a BSc. Degree in Nutrition and Food Science combined major and Biochemistry minor. Her lifelong ambition was to become a Dietitian. She then travelled to the United Kingdom to pursue her ambition where she worked for a while with an HR and Teaching agency called 3E Quantum Associates Ltd in Kent, UK as an Administrative Assistant. Whilst working she had an opportunity to engage in teaching in schools in the Kent Municipality. This is where she found her passion in supporting people in their career path. She then pursued a Master’s Degree in Business Administration at the University of Hull in the United Kingdom. Since then she has worked in various Organizations in Administrative and HR capacities. She joined the International Organization for Migration (IOM) in 2005 at its office in Accra Ghana and is currently the Internship Coordinator at the IOM Headquarters in Geneva. She is a certified Career Coach and has attended career fairs in Berne and held talks with students in Universities in the Geneva municipality.”
