Seoul National University Institute of International Affairs (IIA) 2020 Vision Declaration Ceremony and Symposium. (5/21)

“South Korea’s Current Situation and the Deepening of International and Regional Studies.”

The Seoul National University Institute of International Affairs held the <2020 Vision Declaration Ceremony and Symposium> last Thursday, 21st of May, in order to give statements about their visions. The ceremony started with an inaugural address by the head of SNU GSIS, Jong-Ho Jeong. It was followed by the congratulatory message by the president of Seoul National University, Se-Jung Oh, and the chairman of the SK Social Value Committee, Hyung-Hee Lee.

The commemoration ceremony ended with the declaration of the Seoul National University Institute of International Affairs vision by the Head of the Institute, Cheol-Hee Park. The ceremony was followed by a symposium about “South Korea’s current situation and the deepening of international and regional studies.”

Symposium with the Ambassador of the People's Republic of China to the Republic of Korea Xing Haiming (6/17)

“The ROK-China Friendly Victory and the Joint Construction of the Human Community's Destiny.”

Xing Haiming, the current Ambassador of the People's Republic of China to the Republic of Korea visited SNU GSIS on Wednesday, June 17, 2020 to deliver a symposium about “The ROK-China friendly victory and the joint construction of the human community's destiny.”

The symposium began with the Ambassador mentioning the indispensable partner that South Korea is to China, further emphasizing on the need of building a stronger relationship among the two countries. The Ambassador spoke about the harshness of COVID-19, and the support that both countries have given to each other during such harsh period.

The lecture concluded with an informative Q & A session between the Ambassador and the Head of Seoul National University GSIS, Jong-ho Jeong, and other professors at SNU, the presentation of the appreciation plaque, and finally a photo session among those present.

Round-table with the Ambassador of Japan to the Republic of Korea Tomita Koji (7/15)

“Japan-ROK Relations in the Changing World.”

On Wednesday, July 15, 2020, the Institute of International Affairs (IIA) invited the Ambassador of Japan to the Republic of Korea, Tomita Koji, in order to engage in a discussion regarding future ROK-Japan relations. This event was dually organized by the Institute of International Affairs and the Institute of Japanese Studies.

The meeting began with the inaugural address by Cheol-Hee Park; the head of the Institute of International Affairs, and was followed by the speech delivered by the Ambassador Tomita Koji dealing with the issue of “Japan-ROK relations in the Changing World.” The meeting ended with a Q & A session among Cheol-Hee Park and the Ambassador and the presentation of an appreciation plaque by Hyun-Chul Kim; the Head of the Institute of Japanese Studies.

Institute of International Affairs (IIA) Global Strategy Seminar

“North Korean Nuclear Weapons, the ROK-US Alliance and the Strategic Choice of South Korea.” (4/23)

- _ Chung-in Moon (Distinguished University Professor of Yonsei University)
- _ Duk-Min Yun (Chair-Professor of Hankuk University of Foreign Studies)

On April 23, 2020, the Institute of International Affairs (IIA) organized a Global Strategic Seminar dealing with the issue of “North Korean Nuclear Weapons, the ROK-US alliance and the strategic choice of South Korea.” The Institute of International Affairs (IIA) invited Chung-in Moon; a Distinguished University Professor of Yonsei University, and Duk-Min Yun; a Chair-Professor of Hankuk University of Foreign Studies, as guest speakers in the seminar.

The seminar began with a short presentation by both guest speakers regarding the issue of North Korean Nuclear Weapons and ROK-US alliance. It was followed by a debate session with Cheol-Hee Park; the Head of the Institute of International Affairs. The distinguished guests were able to express their opinion regarding the following questions; will it be possible for North Korea to fully give up on their nuclear weapons? What is the strategic significance of denuclearization of the Yongbyon Nuclear Facilities? How should the increased pressure campaign of the US be evaluated? The seminar ended with a Q & A session with the public and the concluding remarks of the speakers.

“US-China Strategy Competition and South Korea’s Choice.” (5/13)

- _ Jae Ho Chung (Professor of Political Science and International Relations at Seoul National University)
- _ Sung-Han Kim (Dean of the Graduate School of International Studies of Korea University and Director of Iimin International Relations Institute)

The Institute of International Affairs held its second Global Strategic Seminar on May 13, 2020. The Institute invited the Professor of Political Science and International Relations at Seoul National University; Jae Ho Chung, and the Dean of the Graduate School of International Studies of Korea University and director of Iimin International Relations Institute; Sung-Han Kim. Both speakers gave their statements regarding their stance towards “US-China Strategic Competition and South Korea’s Choice.” This was followed by a Panel Discussion among Jae Ho Chung, Sung-han Kim and Cheol-Hee Park; the IIA Director. During the discussion session, the speakers gave their opinion regarding questions such as what perception do both the US and China have towards South Korea? Will the reduction of dependency towards China be a viable strategic choice for South Korea? The Panel Debate concluded with a Q & A and a debate session with the public.

“ROK-Japan Conflict and South Korea’s Strategic Choice.” (6/4)

- Young June Park (Professor at the Korean National Defense University)
- Ki Jeong Nam (Professor at the Seoul National University Institute of Japanese Studies)

Cheol-Hee Park; the head of Institute of International Affairs (IIA), Young June Park; a professor at the Korean National Defense University, and Ki Jeong Nam; a professor at the Seoul National University Institute of Japanese Studies, gathered on June 4, 2020, for the third Global Strategy Seminar to deal with the “ROK-Japan conflict and South Korea’s Strategic Choice.”

The seminar included discussions regarding the possibility for cooperation among ROK and Japan as strong middle powers. Additionally, the participants discussed the influence that Japan could exert in regards to the particular situation of the Korean Peninsula. The debate was followed by a Q & A session and concluding remarks by the participants.

Seoul National University Institute of International Affairs (IIA) Lecture

“2020 Agenda Workshop after Corona, Hybrid Shock and Multiple Challenges” (5/29)

On May 29, 2020, the ‘2020 Agenda Workshop After Corona, Hybrid Shock and Multiple Challenges’ was organized by the Seoul National University Institute of International Affairs and the Seoul Forum for International Affairs. The workshop began with greetings by Hong Koo Lee; the Chairman of the Seoul Forum for International Affairs, Myung-Ja Kim; the President, and Cheol-Hee Park; the Head of the Institute of International Affairs. The workshop included speeches by Seoul National University professors from diverse fields and professors of Yonsei University all of whom dealt with the prospects after the global pandemic COVID-19 is over.

2020 Seoul National University Graduate School of International Studies Gonjiam Workshop

“The United States That We Know, the United States That We Should Know.” (8/7-8/8)

On the 7th to the 8th of August, the Seoul National University Graduate School of International Studies faculty members and invited guests engaged in a two-day workshop in Gonjiam. During the workshop, the participants were able to discuss the issue of “The United States That We Know, the United States That We Should Know.” This event was dually organized and sponsored by SNU GSIS and the Toyota Program.

The workshop began with the greetings by Jong-Ho Jeong; the Dean Professor of GSIS, and was followed by a briefing session by Professor Cheol-Hee Park; the Head of the Institute of International Affairs (IIA). After the opening ceremony was introduced by Professor Taekyoon Kim, Sung-Han Kim; the Dean of International Relations at the Graduate School of International Studies in Korea University and Director of Iimin International Relations Institute, was invited to deliver a speech titled “The Asia Strategy of the Trump Administration After COVID-19.” Participants were able to discuss over the issue and state their perspectives throughout the sessions.

Renewal

Commemoration of IIA Renewal Opening

On March 2, 2020, SNU GSIS faculty and administration staff celebrated the renewal and reopening of Institute of International Affairs (IIA), in a downscaled manner due to the spread of COVID-19. The Institute of International Affairs was first founded in 2004, and ever since has published two established KCI journals on international and regional affairs (RIAS & JIAS).

Under the auspices of SK Holdings, unconditional support and guidance from SNU GSIS Dean Jong-Ho Jeong, and of IIA Director Cheol-Hee Park, IIA has set for major reorganization and reform of the institute, including complete new construction of the space for IIA.

Renewal Opening of the Administration Office and the Exhibition Hall

During the last winter break, the administration office underwent a renovation. It was moved from where the new Institute of International Affairs is currently located to where the old library of the third floor used to be. Additionally, the new administration office has included the department of Academic Affairs, the department of General Affairs and the department of International Affairs, which previously used to be separated into two. During the following summer break, the SNU GSIS Exhibition Hall and the Hanil Holdings Lounge were also completed. Both the administration office and the Exhibition Hall renovation were able to be accomplished thanks to the donations made by Hanil Holdings.

Renewal of the International Studies Library

On January 6, 2020, a couple and graduates of Seoul National University, Nae Gun Lee and Hong Ja Lee visited SNU Graduate School of International Studies in order to donate a Development Fund. This Development Fund has been provided in an aim to promote GSIS to become a global top academic institution in the field of international and area studies.

Part of the donation made by former students of Seoul National University was used for the renovation of the International Studies Library. The remodelling process began on the 18th of June and concluded on the 15th of July, 2020.

CAMPUS Asia

Suwon Field Trip (6/17)

On June 17, 2020, the Campus Asia students went on a one-day trip to the Hwaseong Fortress in Suwon with Professor Seong-Ho Sheen. Professor Sheen guided the Campus Asia students and gave an explanation about the history of the fortress. After the tour, the professor and the students went to have dinner and had the opportunity to get to know each other more deeply and talk about various topics.

4th BESETO Intellectual Dialogue and the 2nd GraSPP Public Policy Talk (7/20)

- _Professor Jong-Ho Jeong (Dean of the Graduate School of International Studies of Seoul National University)
- _Professor Shiqi Tang (Dean of the School of International Studies of Peking University)

On July 20, 2020, the Dean Professor Jong-Ho Jeong; the Dean of the Graduate School of International Studies of Seoul National University, the Dean Professor Shiqi Tang; the Dean of the School of International Studies of Peking University, and the Dean Hiroshi Ohashi; the Dean of the Graduate School of Public Policy of the University of Tokyo, engaged in the 4th BESETO Intellectual Dialogue and 2nd GraSPP Public Policy Talk via ZOOM, regarding the world with and beyond COVID-19.

The webinar began with the greetings and opening remarks of the Dean Hiroshi Ohashi. It was followed by the activity report session from each school of the past year. After the report session, the deans and other faculty members engaged in an intellectual dialogue regarding the impacts of COVID-19, the timing of Credit transfer from UTokyo to SNU in Spring Semester, and the move towards CAMPUS Asia Mode III which has to be further discussed. The dialogue concluded with discussions among the three deans, a Q & A session, and the concluding remarks by the Dean Hiroshi Ohashi.

DCPP

[12th Batch] Spring Semester Online Meeting (5/11)

On May 11, 2020, the 12th DCPP enrolment group engaged in the Spring Semester Online meeting. During this session, the DCPP students were able to ask questions regarding their daily lives and academics, and how it would be affected by the outbreak of COVID-19. Students were also informed about their academic requirements, such as the thesis proposal and the summer courses. The meeting ended with the announcements of future field trips and cultural events.

47th International Development Policy Seminar (5/26)

On May 26, 2020 the 47th International Development Policy Seminar was held online through Zoom, with a total of 21 of the 12th batch DCPP students and 2 staff members attending. A lecture titled “Building an IT Economy: Korean Experience” was presented by Professor Sungchul Chung during the Seminar. In this gathering, the DCPP students were able to learn about Korea’s IT development, South Korea’s strategy in gaining comparative advantage in the sector of IT, and their long-term strategies.

[12th batch] Hiking up Mount Gwanak (6/5)

On June 5, 2020, the 12th DCPD Enrollment Group went mountain climbing with the program director Professor Chong-sup Kim and other DCPD Office members. Before they climbed Mount Gwanak, the students' temperatures were thoroughly monitored and were instructed to properly wear their masks during the trip. This experience was a chance for these students and the staff members to breath fresh air and take a break from the COVID-19 situation.

[12th Batch] The 48th International Development Policy Seminar (6/11)

On June 11, 2020, the 48th International Development Policy Seminar was held. The lecture was given by Senior Fellow of the Korea Institute of Public Finance, Dr. Jae-Jin Kim on the "Economic Development and Tax Policy in Korea." The lecture had the purpose of helping DCPD students understand the importance of the tax reform and how it was crucial for the development of South Korea since 1953. The lecture ended with a Q&A session among the lecturer and the DCPD students in regards to the content of the lecture, and a photo session. A total of 19 of the 12th batch DCPD students and 3 staff members attended the seminar.

[12th Batch] Field Trip to Korean Folk Village (6/26)

On Friday 26th, June 2020 the 12th DCPD enrolment group visited the Korean Folk Village to experience various aspects of Korean culture. The students were able to wear the traditional Korean attire called Hanbok. They also had the opportunity to see various traditional folk dances. Preventive measures were taken before and during the field trip, by having their temperatures measured and being required to wear face masks at all time. Students only took their masks off for the group photo.

[12th Batch] End of Spring Semester Meeting (7/2)

On the 2nd of July, 2020 the end of the Spring Semester Meeting was held at SNU GSIS. The meeting was among the 12th DCPD enrolment group, Professor Chong-Sup Kim, and the DCPD Office staff members. Students were able to give their opinions and feedbacks from their personal experience taking courses at GSIS and their daily lives in Korea. Future field trips and events were also discussed within the group.

[12th Batch] Field Trip to Naksan Temple and Sokcho (7/24)

On July 24th, 2020, the 12th DCPD enrolment group, Professor Chong-Sup Kim, and the DCPD Office staff members had the opportunity to visit the Naksan Temple and the Sokcho Tourist Site. Students experienced and enjoyed different aspects of Korean culture and were able to see the natural and historic sites of Korea. Everyone who participated in the trip was reminded to heed to the safety procedures related to COVID-19.

Seoul National University Graduate School of International Studies' 44th Commencement

The Seoul National University Graduate School of International Studies' 44th GSIS Commencement was cancelled due to the fear of further outspread of COVID-19. Under preventive measures, the administration office offered an academic gown rental service from the 18th of August to the 28th, for students graduating this semester to have the chance to take photos. Students were also able to receive their graduate school diplomas from the administration office, which were handed out from the 27th to the 28th of the same month.

Instead of the GSIS Commencement Ceremony,

Seoul National University arranged another form to celebrate those who graduated in a more adequate manner during this pandemic which honored 69 graduates composed of 66 Masters in International Studies and three Doctors who are Seung Ho Lee, Jeongjoon James Park, and Kyoung Hwa Kim. The ceremony was recorded in a video form and uploaded to the SNU Official Website and Youtube. The video contained the congratulatory message of the Dean of GSIS; Jong-Ho Jeong, Power-Point slides containing the images of the graduating students, award for excellence in grades and thesis.

Siyoung Kim_President of the Student Council

1. Brief introduction of yourself.

Greetings everyone!

I am Siyoung Kim, many of you may know me as Sean as well. I have had the great pleasure of serving the GSIS Student Council as your President for the Spring 2020 semester. Having just completed my second semester here at our wonderful Graduate School, I have just started working at the United Nations Industrial Development Organization's (UNIDO) office here in Seoul as a Young Professional for the next few months.

2. Why were you interested in becoming a student council member?

It was a valuable opportunity to serve and lead our student community. Having received much support from our fellow students, I was inclined to take on the challenge of becoming one of our esteemed student council members.

3. How was life as a student council member?

Life in general has been affected dramatically by the COVID-19 for all of us. The University was forced into adopting a method of online teaching throughout all of its departments, student social life was practically inexistent, and most importantly, many of the events we have prepared for had to be cancelled. It was a tough time for all, however, a variety of tasks such as notifying our students of any changes in the country and the university's policies regarding COVID-19, hosting online events as an alternative etc. allowed us a sense of serious responsibility facing this global pandemic together as a team.

4. How have you dealt with the COVID-19 as the student council president?

The COVID-19 is still prevailing because of its tendency to be easily transmitted even with a short period of contact with the infected person. As the Student Council President, I, first and foremost tried extremely hard to set a personal example of Social Distancing and sent out messages of caution to our Student Council members as frequently as possible. Not only our fellow students, but the general public found it very difficult to cut out all physical social interaction, especially young individuals living alone and travelers from abroad. I exercised exceptional caution and followed all Social Distancing guidelines and regulations set out by our University and the Korean Government, continuously trying awfully hard to persuade other students to follow suit.

5. What do you believe was your proudest achievement as student council president?

In such times of a Global Pandemic, I believe my proudest achievement as the Student Council President was having zero new cases of COVID-19 in our Graduate School of International Studies. As a department that boasts a large percentage of international students as well, we have maintained a good level of health precautions, with measures such as handing out free medical supplies e.g.) filtered face masks, which helped increase our chance of remaining a COVID-19 free zone. I can also say that we explored new paths that adapt social interaction with online space, as our Zoom major nights and Thesis Workshops have proven to be a great success amongst our students. We also managed record high sales of merchandise items having had sold almost a 100 t-shirts alone with our team's new designs.

6. Do you have any advice for the next student council members?

With speculations of Second and Third waves of the COVID-19 spreading locally and globally, it may still be difficult for the next semester student council members to host any physical social events. Please don't be let down. We are all in this together and our utmost priority is the health and safety of us and our students. There are a great number of ways in which the student council can help support the student community, such as online based engagement, providing information on various national/university's support programs whether it be mental or physical health, can all contribute to enhanced student life. During such an unpredictable and precarious time, I am positive that our esteemed colleagues will understand the difficulties involved and try to provide support rather than criticise.

7. To our GSIS students!

Thank you so much every single one of you for a difficult yet memorable semester! I express my sincerest gratitude for all of your fantastic patience in such an uncertain period of global crisis, and hope that this semester has been a great success for all of you! Please continue to stay healthy and safe and I hope we will all get to see each other in the coming semester.

To all of you who have graduated this term:

It is a terrible shame that the University was unable to host a ceremony to celebrate the end of your hard and enduring work. On behalf of our student body, the GSIS Student Council and I sincerely congratulate you on your achievement and wish you the best in your future endeavors and your coming successful careers. Keep in touch!

Tenu Yosoke_CAMPUS Asia Student

1. Brief introduction of yourself.

My name is Tenu Yokose. I am an exchange student from the University of Tokyo, Graduate School of Public Policy. I am half Japanese and half Chinese. I was born and grew up in China until 11 years old and then moved to Japan. This is my last semester in Campus Asia Program. After graduation, I will start to work in Tokyo, Japan.

2. Why did you apply for Campus Asia program?

During my undergraduate, I participated in a student conference called “Japan-China-ROK Youth Forum”, organized by the United Nations Association of Japan, China, and ROK. Through the heated discussions in the symposiums and Model United Nations sessions, I was shocked by how these opinions of youth were portrayed differently in the media. Therefore, I wanted to join Campus Asia Program to gain more knowledge in politics, economics, policy, and International Relations in three prestigious universities. I also want to deepen my understanding of regional issues from different angles and develop cultural awareness while living in three countries. Also, I wanted to discover more possibilities for mutual understanding through this valuable program to contribute to cooperation and enhance peace among East Asian countries in the future.

3. How has the Campus Asia program helped you academically or personally for the future?

It has deepened my understanding from diverse points of view towards pertinent global and East Asian issues. Studying at three graduate schools by taking courses from different academic fields provides me more possibility to consider a single issue from many different aspects and approach. In addition, while living in three countries, attending various seminars, getting advice from seniors who graduated from Campus Asia Program, and people who have similar interests or backgrounds, and participating in Internships, helped me a lot to consider and seek my future career. Personally, I consider Campus Asia as a “family”. Even though we have various backgrounds, but in some parts, we have similar visions of the future of East Asia, and we are strongly bonded with each other after share both fun and hard experience together.

4. Do you have any advice or tips for the students who are interested in applying to Campus Asia?

The most important thing I want to mention is, please be open-minded. Since each country has different education systems and positions, it is very important to be open-minded and listen opinions from others. Please do not only think from your own perspectives, but also try to understand what makes this person think so. Please also be open-minded to live in a new environment and make an effort to understand and accept different cultures. Learning an additional language will also help you communicate with local people and help you understand some unique cultures. Speaking to people in their native language will broaden your world to have a more in-depth conversation.

Campus Asia Program is such a worthwhile program, and if you are interested, please do not miss this chance! We are waiting for you to join our Campus Asia family!

5. What are your future plans?

After graduation, I will work for a consulting company in Tokyo, Japan, to gain experience in different industries. Especially, I want to involve in projects related to public sectors. After gaining experience and insight from both the public and private sectors, I hope to utilize the knowledge I have gained through both Campus Asia Program and work to become a bridge among East Asian countries. I want to be involved in a job more focused on cooperation among East Asian countries to return the favor to our region.

Ignace Nsengiyumva Majune_DCPP

1. Brief introduction of yourself.

Hello, my name is Ignace NSENGIYUMVA MAJUNE, I'm a civil servant by profession from the Democratic Republic of Congo, pursuing an M.A at Graduate school of International Studies majoring in Area Studies.

2. How is life in Korea?

So far everything is fine, except COVID 19 which limits mobility; nevertheless, I enjoy life in Korea. I am particularly interested in discovering new cultures, monuments and historical sites. Korea offers me this sufficiently, that is why, every time I have the opportunity, during the weekends, to visit and discover new places in Korea, I do not hesitate for a second. Korean culture has this fascinating side, where I keep discovering new things every day. I would remember my stay here in Korea very much. I learn a lot outside the campus and the academic sphere.

3. Why did you apply for DCP?

I was interested in the DCP program because it was a capacity-building program for public officials in the area of public policy that my country sorely lacks. Apart from that, I was also interested in pursuing my university courses. A few years ago, when I finished my Bachelor degree, I wanted to continue my studies but, I did not have an opportunity for a Master's program due to several factors. The DCP program has offered me this opportunity not only professionally, but also personally.

4. How has the DCP program helped you academically or professionally for the future?

The DCP program combines, not only, an ordinary Academic curriculum within GSIS as any regularly enrolled student but also professional, through lectures, seminars and professional workshops for learning and sharing experience with Korean or foreign officials in various fields. The organization of Fields trip to discover the economic-industrial and cultural complex of Korea.

In this respect, the DCP office helps us, particularly in the combination of these two activities to continue our stay in Korea in peace.

5. Do you have any advice or tips for the students who are interested in applying to DCCP?

To all students concerned about the development of their country and interested in the program my advice is to work hard and wish them a full success in their recruitment process. It is a good opportunity that is offered to them. This will bring them a lot, on the professional and academic level with quality teaching and even on the level of personal fulfilment.

6. What was your favorite memory of SNU GSIS?

Hard to tell, one of my memory is probably the commencement ceremony organized by the DCCP office when I discovered the entire GSIS campus with its faculty members, the cultural diversity of the World represented by students from all backgrounds and countries, and the campus facilities. As we always say the first impression is always the most striking.

7. What are your future plans?

Until proven otherwise, I plan to return home to family and friends, to bring my stone to the building of my country and its elevation by making it benefit from all that I learned here in Korea.

GSIS Students' Opinion about Online Lectures

Suna Kim

1st Semester

International Area Studies Major

In my opinion, online courses have multiple advantages that benefit both the professors and students. The flexibility of time and space gave me the convenience to balance family and work commitments along with education. My colleagues that lived off-campus especially appreciated not having to commute each day to attend classes. Specific benefits from having courses on Zoom relate to the speed of lectures. Professors took their time explaining each material and confirming whether they were audible throughout the lecture. This gave me the time to recollect my thoughts and organize my notes. Additionally, the Zoom platform provided names of professors and each student within the class. As a freshman new to the school, this function helped me interact fluently with professors and students. At the end of the course, I remembered all the names and comments of my peers that I interacted with on Zoom.

Taking classes online had its disadvantages as well. I experienced multiple technological issues especially with the audio system on Zoom. There were cases where I was unable to clearly hear the professor or students and not having enough time to revisit my questions. Professors and students had to repeat their sentences and explanations due to this problem. This particular issue gave limitations to class discussions or presenting concerns regarding assignments. These technological issues and time limitations during LIVE sessions were the critical drawbacks of online lectures.

I believe utilizing LIVE and recorded lectures would solve the overall issues mentioned above. Dividing and balancing these two methods would give students the time to revisit and review recorded lectures and prepare questions for the LIVE discussion and debate section. This would particularly decrease technological issues.

Eujin Lee2nd Semester

International Cooperation Major

Never had I expected that all classes would have been replaced to online structures, until the unexpected global pandemic strike. Not being used to taking classes outside the real class, at first I had a strong doubt on the fluent progress of the lectures. However, it was more than I had expected; both the faculty and the school administration had prepared a lot for organizing the classes, and so did the students. Students have actively participated in discussions and asked many questions as possible at the boundary of not interrupting the flows. It is true that this method can function for the rest of the days before the COVID 19 ultimately finds a solution, vaccine, but I do miss my classmates and fruitful debates we had in the class. Also, upon preparing for thesis, I do hope this situation would get better, so that I can meet classmates and professors to share my thoughts and listen to their perspectives. Hopefully in the future, even upon this emergency, there can be an alternative possibility of the gatherings than ZOOM, which is again very well organized with a lot of efforts, but irreplaceable of the actual meetings.

Rachel Ringoringo2nd Semester

International Area Studies Major

The online courses this semester was an unprecedented circumstance due to the current pandemic; however I believe the school and the faculty performed well under such short notice to still relay valuable knowledge to the students. In my case, I still had many presentations to prepare, possibly more than if I were to have offline classes, and I think I benefitted from the extra research. I do miss the valuable conversations shared in class between the professor and the students so I wish there had been a better way to facilitate that. I hope a vaccine will quickly be found so as to allow offline courses again but I can say that I think the department performed well under such uncertain times to ensure the students both safety and education.

Online courses have multiple advantages that benefit both the professors and students. The flexibility of time and space gave me the convenience to balance family and work commitments along with education.

Taking classes online had its disadvantages as well. I experienced multiple technological issues especially with the audio system on Zoom.

I do miss my classmates and fruitful debates we had in the class.

I hope a vaccine will quickly be found so as to allow offline courses again but I can say that I think the department performed well under such uncertain times to ensure the students both safety and education.

Zoom Major Nights

Due to the COVID-19 outbreak, the Student Council had to make major changes to their schedule this semester. As a preventive measure, the Student Council has organized online Major Nights through Zoom. The major representatives and the President of the Student Council hosted the meetings along with the freshmen. It was an opportunity for the newly joining members of GSIS to get to know each other and ask questions regarding their academic requirements and other doubts that they had.

Thesis Workshop

Major changes were made for this Spring Semester's Thesis Workshop. Professor Jiyeoun Song, Professor Tae Gyun Park, Professor Cheol Hee Park, and Professor Soohyung Lee held an online workshop for students of International Cooperation, Korean Studies, Area Studies, and International Commerce major respectively. The professors were able to introduce students with the basic tips ranging from how to choose a thesis topic and how to write it. At the end of the meeting, students were able to freely ask questions and get advice from the professors.

Merchandise

The SNU GSIS Student Council organized a merchandise so that already registered students and incoming freshmen could purchase SNU GSIS baseball jackets, hoodies, and T-shirts. The orders were taken online and the merchandise was organized so that it would be picked up depending on the major of the student and the student number as a preventive measure of the COVID-19. All students had to wear a mask and students picking up their merchandise had their temperatures checked.

2020 Fall Semester Student Council Online Elections

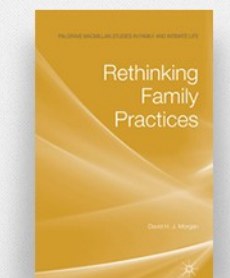

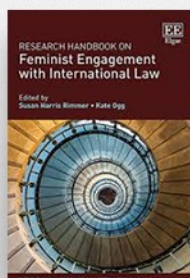

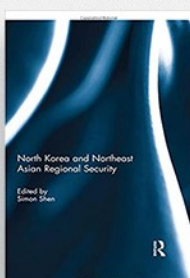

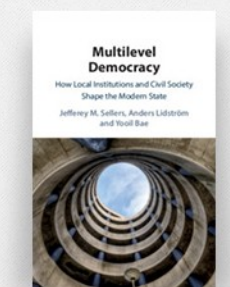

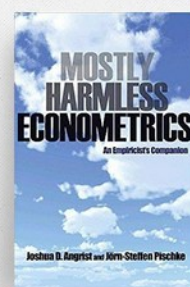

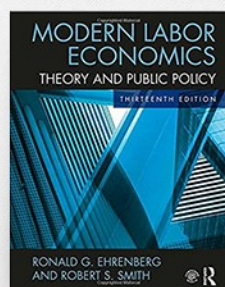

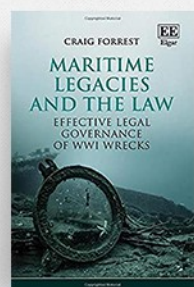

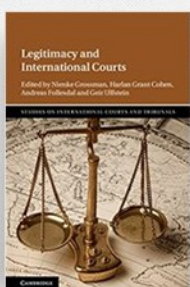

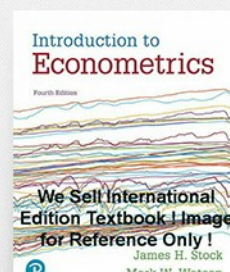

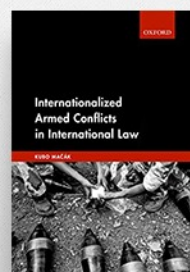

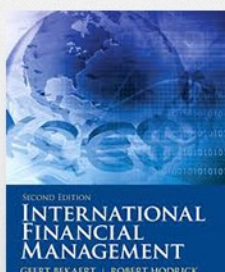

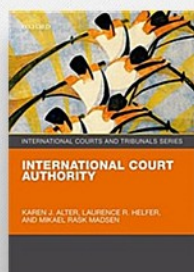

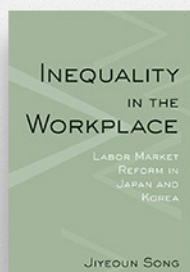

Due to the current outbreak of COVID-19, the spring semester student council had to reorganize the 2020 Fall Semester Student Council elections. They arranged the adequate measures so that candidates could apply online and voters could give their votes via RSVP. The applying period was open until the 18th of June, and the students could vote from the 18th of June to the 24th of June after the online "Candidate's Public Debate".
